

Mead Johnson Research Award in Endocrinology and Metabolism

Grantor: American Physiological Society

Closes: 11/12/2010

Maximum: $500.00

Mead Johnson Research Award in Endocrinology and Metabolism

The Mead Johnson Research Award in Endocrinology and Metabolism ($500 plus reimbursement of the advance registration fee) is intended to recognize the graduate student, resident or postdoctoral fellow who presents the best abstract for research in the area of Endocrinology and Metabolism at the Experimental Biology Meeting.

Applicants must upload a copy of the first-authored abstract submitted to an Endocrinology and Metabolism Section topic category (1091-APS through 1104-APS) and a recommendation letter from the sponsor certifying the training status of the applicant. Awardees are recognized at the Endocrinology & Metabolism Section Business Meeting and Awards Reception at EB 2011.

All application materials must be completed online by November 12, 2010.

Link: <http://www.the-aps.org/meetings/eb10/awards/endo.htm#mead>

Categories: Clinical Research, Educational Exchange, Endocrinology, Essay Award, Metabolics, Pancreas, Physiology , Scientific Importance/Achievement

Audience: Doctoral Student, Graduate Student, Medical Resident, New Investigator, New Researcher, Postdoctoral Fellow, Young Investigator, Young Scientist