Beth Carew Memorial Scholarship Program

We will be accepting applications for 2010-2011 beginning February 1, 2010 through April 15, 2010

The Colburn-Keenan Foundation is a charitable organization committed to providing assistance and support to individual and families affected chronic illness. In addition, we provide assistance and support to community, local, and national organizations that provide programs and services to individuals and families with chronic illness in the United States.

The primary focus of our charitable giving programs is to provide assistance and support to individuals and families with chronic inherited bleeding disorders and to organizations and institutions whose programs serve individuals and families with chronic inherited bleeding disorders.

The Beth Carew Memorial Scholarship Program is a yearly competitive educational scholarship sponsored by the Foundation. The Scholarship is offered to 10 undergraduate students attending colleges or universities in the U.S. Scholarship awards are each in the amount of $4,000 per student per year and are offered on a one-year basis to help students with costs associated with obtaining a higher education degree. If you are interested in applying for the Beth Carew Memorial Scholarship for the 2009-2010 academic year, please call, write, or e-mail for an application.
