Clinical Research Grants for Study in the Field of Hand Surgery

Funded by the American Foundation for Surgery of the Hand and the Orthopaedic Research and Education Foundation

The American Foundation for Surgery of the Hand funds clinical research studies projects to encourage young investigators in a field of study pertinent to hand surgery. Applications from surgeons, researchers and allied health professionals are welcome.

Grants of up to $10,000 per year, for up to two years, are available annually.

Grant applications are due on April 2, 2012. All Clinical Research proposals are required to have proof that the primary investigators are in the active process of receiving IRB approval. Please prepare your proposal schedule accordingly.

For questions, please contact Sarah Meyer Hughes at smeyerhughes@assh.org or 847-384-8300.
